2015

Lakatoo – Mobile Application Development Company

Application Tester

Lakatoo is a software development company focused on creating and maintaining mobile applications. As an Application Tester, I was responsible for testing mobile applications to identify bugs, usability issues, and performance concerns before release. I executed functional, usability, and regression testing, documented defects with detailed reports, verified bug fixes, and collaborated with the development team to improve application quality. I also ensured that applications met quality standards by validating features, user interface consistency, and overall user experience across different devices and operating environments.

2015

SmartMinds – Social Media Marketing & Digital Campaigns

Social Media Marketing Associate

SmartMinds is a digital marketing group that specializes in executing social media campaigns, with a focus on Twitter (X) marketing and audience engagement. As a Social Media Marketing Associate, I supported the planning and execution of promotional campaigns, managed multiple Twitter (X) accounts, created and scheduled content, monitored engagement metrics, and interacted with online communities to increase brand visibility. I also tracked campaign performance, maintained accurate activity records, and collaborated with the team to optimize social media strategies and achieve marketing objectives while adhering to platform guidelines.

2015

Krishna Lavette – Australian E-commerce Business

Product Researcher

Krishna Lavette is an Australian e-commerce business owner specializing in online retail and product sourcing. As a Product Researcher, I conducted in-depth market and competitor research to identify profitable products and emerging trends. A key responsibility involved comparing products listed on Amazon with equivalent products available from local Australian suppliers to evaluate pricing, quality, availability, and profit margins. I analyzed product demand, competitor performance, and sourcing opportunities to support purchasing decisions. Additionally, I gathered and maintained accurate product data, organized research using spreadsheets, and assisted in preparing optimized product listings by ensuring product specifications, keywords, and descriptions were complete and market-ready.

2015

Greystone – Australian Business Services for the Restaurant Industry

Social Media Marketing (LinkedIn Marketing Specialist)

Greystone is an Australian business that provides services and solutions to local restaurants and hospitality establishments. As a LinkedIn Marketing Specialist, I supported the company's outreach and networking efforts by identifying and profiling professionals within the restaurant and hospitality industry, including executive chefs, specialty chefs, restaurant owners, and decision-makers. I conducted targeted research, built prospect lists, managed LinkedIn outreach activities, maintained accurate contact databases, and helped strengthen the company's professional network. I also assisted in lead generation initiatives and market research to support business development and client acquisition efforts within the hospitality sector.
